CONSTANTINOPLE, April 15.

A RESOLUTION has been taken in the Divan to fit out with all speed 12 Sultanas, or Ships of the Line of Battle, 12 Gallies, and 4 Galliots. It is given out that this Fleet is to act against the Malteze, but many are of Opinion that the Court has other Designs.

Nothing can come up to the Haughty Behaviour of the Persian Ambassador: His Publick Entry here was made with so much Pride and Ostentation, that it look'd more like a Triumph. The Ambassador demanded an Audience immediately of the Sultan, without seeing the Grand Vizir, alledging, that he was sent to his Highness, and not to his Minister; but in spite of all his Efforts to obtain it, the Porte remain'd unshakable; so that he resolv'd to see the Grand Vizir only for Form's sake, being fully determined not to talk with him about any Business before he had seen the Grand Signior.

After he had been conducted to the Hall of Audience, he sat down by the Prime Minister, and made three Gentlemen of his Retinue sit down on the same Sopha, to whom Pipes and Tobacco were presented. According to Custom, the Ambassador was presented with a Pelisse, but he would not wear it, and gave it to a Slave to keep: His Retinue also refused the Caffrans that were presented to them. The Grand Vizir having touch'd upon some Points concerning the Affairs of the two Empires, the Ambassador made him no Answer, but waved the Discourse to general Affairs, and in particular expatiated on the Valour, the Conquests and Victories of Thamas Kouli Kan, and so ended his Visit.

The Ambassador behav'd with the same Haughtiness at the Audience he had a few Days after of the Grand Signior, and demanded in express Terms, the Restitution of the ancient Frontiers of the Persian Empire; adding, that the Sophi his Master, pretended to as much Authority at Mecca as the Ottoman Emperor. He was told that he should have an Answer in proper Time and Place.

Since this Audience several Divans have been held, in which, 'tis said, War has been resolv'd upon, rather than grant any of the Persian Ambassador's Demands: In the mean time several Chambers of Janissaries are filing off to Asia, and Orders have been issued for assembling the Spahis, and getting ready great Trains of Artillery, with all sorts of Provision and Ammunition.

The Porte appears extremely embarrassed with the new War with which she is threatned: It is fear'd that the first Defeat may occasion the deposing of the Sultan, in order to place an Emperor on the Throne that may command his Armies in Person. However, we flatter ourselves that the Persian Minister, whom we expect in a few Days, is charg'd with more agreeable Proposals.

Petersburgh, April 28. O. S. The Major who conducted the Seraskier of Oczakow, and the Bashaw of Bender to the Frontiers, is returned, and has made a Report of his Commission to the Government. He says, the Bashaw of Bender was very melancholy all the Way, and especially when he took Leave of him; fearing that when he arrives at Constantinople his Head must answer for his Miscarriage at the Battle of Choczim; but the Seraskier of Oczakow, appeared very brisk.

May 9. The late Duke of Courland is to set out to day or to morrow, with his Wife, his two Sons and Daughters, for Siberia, where he is to be as it were sequestred from Mankind, and where the Count Gustavus de Biron his Brother lay at the Point of Death. The Duke's Furniture, which is so rich that his Plate alone is valued at 200,000 Rubles, or about 100 000 Pounds Sterling, is going to be sent to the new Palace at Moscow.

Lisbon, May 9. O. S. The Plan of the Ground is now laid out, on which the King is to erect a new Patriarchal Church, and a Palace for the Patriarch: The very Models of these two Fabricks cost more than some of the sumptuous Churches in Europe, his Majesty having for this End employ'd the most celebrated Architects in Italy and France, and sent others abroad to view the finest Churches in Christendom. The Patriarchal Church will be a complete Master-piece, and must out do St. Paul at London, and St. Peter at Rome, if it be executed according to the Grand Design of his Majesty, who has appropriated several Millions for it; and six or seven hundred Houses are soon to be pull'd down, which the King has purchas'd, to make a proper Site and Opening to the two Structures.

Francfort, June 8. From the Austrian Camp of Bilau, May 27. Several Regiments of Horse and Dragoons have within a Day or two join'd the Army, and 3000 Woradians and 900 Valacks are every Moment expected at the Camp. Count Neuperg heard the Day before Yesterday, that the Prussian Army was arrived at Grotkau, with a great Quantity of Provision and Ammunition, and a large Train of Artillery, upon which a Council of War was held, wherein it was resolved to wait for the Enemy in the Camp without stirring. Our Spies report, that Part of the Prussian Army was preparing to march with the heavy Artillery towards Neiss, from whence several useless Mouths have been sent away.

From the Camp at Buhlau, May 30. On the 27th Instant, a Detachment of Prussians made an Attack on one of our Posts near Makowitz: But the Enemy, after a brisk Fire on both sides, were repell'd, after having had 30 Men killed and 18 made Prisoners of War: The Number lost on our side was 6 Hussars killed, and a Captain and Serjeant taken Prisoners. We hear the Prussians are since retired to Grotkau, and that they are disposed to approach Neiss: in the the mean time we are making all neceſſary Diſpoſitions to receive them, in caſe of an Attack; and Orders have been given to ſend to Jagerndorff all the heavy Baggage of the Army, ſo that we ſhall be leſs embarraſſed when coming to an Action.

Venice, May 9. O. S. They write from Dalmatia, that the Turks upon the Frontiers of Albania have committed Violences upon the Subjects of the Republick; and that the Ottoman Porte had reviv'd ſome ancient Pretenſions, which cauſes great Inquietude here.

Vienna, May 16. Advice has been receiv'd from Olmutz, that the two Columns of Croatian Troops had paſs'd by that Place, in order to join the Army of Count Neuperg. There will ſpeedily be an Exchange of Priſoners.

In one of the Memorials publiſhed by the Count de Montijo, ſince his Arrival in the Empire, it is ſaid, 'That tho' the King of Spain's Right to the Succeſſion of the late Emperor Charles the 6th, is very clear, yet his Friendſhip for the Germanick Body, would not ſuffer him to take any ſteps that might diſturb their Tranquility, or regard the Election of an Emperor. That he only ſeeks to convince them of the Intereſt he takes in their repoſe, and his deſire to haſten the Election: That with this View he has ſent an Ambaſſador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to the Diet of Frankfort: That he does not pretend to aſſert his Right in any other Manner, but ſuch as becomes his Moderation and his Power, and without cauſing any Confuſion in the Empire, That, nevertheleſs, his Catholick Majeſty did not want reaſons to act otherwiſe, the Great Duke of Tuſcany having furniſhed him with a very material One, in taking upon him the Title of Grand Maſter of the Golden Fleece.' Then the Memorial advances ſome Arguments to prove that the Great Duke has no Right to that Title, and proceeds thus, 'That tho' the King of Spain was afterwards informed, that the Great Dutcheſs of Tuſcany had appointed Ambaſſadors, in Quality of Electreſs of Bohemia, to go to the Diet of Election, yet he did not think it neceſſary to give himſelf any Trouble about the Matter, being firmly perſuaded, that the Empire would not admit ſuch Ambaſſadors, conſidering what is ſaid on this ſubject in the Golden Bull, which does not afford any one Authority in favour of that Princeſs: That all the ſteps that may be taken by the States of Bohemia on the ſame Principle, cannot but be equally ill-grounded: Therefore, as his Catholick Majeſty has an indiſputable Right to all the Dominions poſſeſſed by the late Emperor, and in particular to the Kingdom of Bohemia, to which the Electoral Functions are attached, he ſolemnly oppoſes the adjudging the Exerciſe of thoſe Functions to the Grand Dutcheſs of Tuſcany, or to any Repreſentative on her Part; and that as the Electoral Vote of Bohemia belongs ſolely to his Catholick Majeſty, he proteſts in the ſtrongeſt manner, that he will not ſuffer the Grand Dutcheſs of Tuſcany to be inveſted with it.

Nuremberg, May 16. O. S. According to very good Advices from the Frontiers of Sileſia, Count Neuperg's Army was ſtill encamp'd near Neiſs, the 9th Inſtant. The Day before the Count receiv'd Advice that the King of Pruſſia was making ſeveral Motions as if he intended to advance towards Neiſs. In the Afternoon the Velt-Marſhal diſtributed the Field Artillery to the Brigades, and took other Meaſures for giving the Enemy a proper Reception in caſe they ſhould come to attack him. His Excellency receiv'd no further Notice that Day of the Motions of the Pruſſians, but the 9th in the Morning he was informed that the King of Pruſſia had called a Grand Council of War, and that it was thought the Paſſage of the River Neiſs was propoſed in it.

From the King of Pruſſia's Camp at Molwitz, May 19. N. S. His Pruſſian Majeſty has given Orders for repairing the Fortifications of Breig and ſtrengthening them with new Works, and has put it into a Garriſon of 3000 Men. Since the taking of Breig no Action has paſſed between the Pruſſian and Auſtrian Troops, except that on the 17th Inſtant, a Detachment of 900 of our Huſſars and Dragoons, led by Colonel Wrump, attacked a Body of about 1300 of the Enemy's Horſe, Dragoons and Huſſars, commanded by General Barony; the Enemy were routed, and the Forage which they had got together in the Village of Rothſchloſs, four Leagues from hence, was brought off hither. The Auſtrian Army commanded by Felt Marſhal Count Neuperg continues encamped at Neiſs.

Vienna, May 27. The Pretenſions made by Spain on the Succeſſion of Auſtria, which have been received at this Court, occaſions great Surprize here, and our Court are buſied in drawing up an Anſwer by way of Proteſt, wherein will be ſet forth upon what a frivolous and deſigning Foundation they are grounded, as they in no wiſe enervate the Pragmatick of the late Emperor Charles VI. of glorious Memory. The Court of Spain does even ſeem to feel the Weakneſs of theſe Pretenſions, ſince they have not publiſhed them, when the Emperor made that ſaid Pragmatick publick, for then was the right Time and Opportunity to proteſt againſt it, if his Catholick Majeſty had been of Opinion that the ſaid Emperor had no Rights nor Power to make ſuch a Conſtitution.

Letters from Feldt-Marſhal Count Neuperg, dated the 23d Inſtant from the Army encamp'd at Nieſs, gave an Account that General Baronay commanding a Detachment of 1200 Horſe and Huſſars, had on the 16th ſent to the Camp ninety Carts loaded with Corn which he had taken, having routed a Party of Pruſſians that guarded them. That on the 17th the ſaid General with his Detachment was ſuddenly attack'd by 6000 Pruſſians, whom he repulſed thrice, and then broke thro' them Sword in Hand and retired to Munſterberg; where many of the Huſſars who had ſtraggled from him in his haſty Retreat, came to him; ſo that his whole Loſs was but of 90 Huſſars and Horſe, with a Lieut. Colonel and a Captain: And that on the 21ſt that General with his Detachment return'd to the Camp.

Frankfort, June 1. Private Letters from Munich ſay, that one Article of the Count de Montijo's Commiſſion is to engage the Elector of Bavaria to cede to the King of Spain his Rights to the Provinces held by the Houſe of Auſtria in Italy, for an Equivalent of Money; and 'tis added, that this Propoſal has been accepted.

Bruſſels, June 8. Hardly a Day paſſes without ſending all ſorts of Proviſions and warlike Stores to Luxemburg, it being ſtill more ſtrongly reported that the French are to have a Camp within four or five Leagues of that Town.

June 15. Our Letters from Paris of the 13th poſitively aſſure, that an Alliance is concluded between France, Spain, Sardinia, Sicily and Bavaria, of which we alſo had Advice by the way of Vienna. Our Advices from the Frontiers of France import, that they continued beating up for Soldiers, and were hard at Work in repairing the Fortifications, and putting them in a State of Defence; that the Works at Vinexberg would be finiſhed before Auguſt; and that they alſo continued vigorouſly to carry on thoſe that are making to the Canal and Harbour of Graveline.

Hamburgh, June 9. They write from Copenhagen that the Maſters of ſeveral Ships arrived at Elſeneur, from Revel, report, that about the end of laſt Month they met near the Caſtle Dagercoot, ſituated in the Iſle of Dago, a ſmall Diſtance from the Coaſts of Livonia, a Squadron of 14 Swediſh Ships, which were making their Route, as they thought, towards Frederickshaven.

LON-

LONDON, June 13.

Private Letters from Holland aſſure us, that the Government there, perhaps too late, ſenſible how far their Supineneſs has expoſed them to the Intrigues of France, are at laſt reſolved vigorouſly to exert themſelves, and if poſſible ward off the intended Blow, by putting their Frontier Towns into a Poſture of Defence, and taking all neceſſary Meaſures to receive an Enemy. 'Tis not in the leaſt doubted but many in their Councils foreſaw this, but were blinded by F----h Gold; and this the People are not unacquainted with; who, probably, if they ſhould receive a ſudden Blow from their natural Enemy, wou'd ſhew their moſt terrible Reſentment at their Frenchified Counſellors in a Manner peculiar to the People of the United Provinces; but Revenge of this kind is but ſmall Satisfaction to their bleeding Country.

A Swediſh Ship bound for India has been ſearch'd by the Biddeford Man of War, in which were found 30,000 Pieces of Eight belonging to a Spaniſh Merchant then on board the ſaid Ship. This Prize and the Owner was put on Board the Biddeford.

July 7. The write from Liſbon that the Cardinal de Fleury has been for ſome time making Propoſals and Solicitations to the King of Portugal to draw him off from the Engliſh Intereſt, but that he is not like to ſucceed; and that a Nun died lately at the Jeſuits Convent in Aviero who was 104 Years of Age, and aſſiſted in the Offices of her Convent to the laſt Day of her Life. The Maſter of the Packet-Boat ſays he ſpoke off Porto with an Engliſh Man of War and an Engliſh Privateer, who miſtaking one another for Spaniards, had fought all Night, till Day made them good Friends.

By the Holland Mail Yeſterday they adviſe from Peterſburgh of the 24th paſt, that the Grand Dutcheſs Regent was far advanced in her Pregancy. And that a ſecond Squadron of their Men of War was ſailed from Cronſtadt for the Baltick, inſomuch that they expected ſoon to hear ſome important Advices from that Sea.

We hear the Forces are not to go abroad, which makes it believed that an Accommodation is at hand between his Pruſſian Majeſty and the Queen of Hungary.

The Sunderland Man of War has taken a Spaniſh Ship of 24 Guns, bound from Cadiz to the Spaniſh Weſt-Indies, with a valuable Cargo; as has the Kennington, another of his Majeſty's Ships, a Dutch Fly-boat, above 300 Tons, from Porto-Bello, laden with Cocoa.

The St. Mark, Capt. Wilſon, arrived at Cowes the 3d Inſt. from Rotterdam, having eight hundred Palatines on board bound for Philadelphia.

NEW-YORK, September 7.

Laſt Saturday Night arrived here his Majeſty's Ship the Sea-horſe, under the Command of Capt. Allen, who brought with him Capt. Hopkins and Capt. Winſlow of Col. Gooch's Regiment, who come with Inſtructions from General Wentworth to raiſe Recruits for his Majeſty's Land Forces, that now are and have been ever ſince the 23d Day of July actually poſſeſſed of a very rich and fruitful Part of the Iſland of CUBA, and are daily extending their Poſſeſſions. I heartily congratulate my Country-Men on this happy Event, which has opened a Door to let in all thoſe who are willing to enrich themſelves by Grants of Land on the beſt and eaſieſt Terms that ever any were yet granted by his Majeſty in America; beſides which, each Voluntier that will enliſt for this Service, is to have the King's Pay, Cloathing and Arms, and if he chuſes to return, to be tranſported hither again at the King's Charge; but that's a needleſs Promiſe; for who would quit a healthy fruitful Country, abounding with every Thing that is neceſſary to make Life happy? For if Health, Wealth, Plenty of moſt ſorts of Proviſion that Earth or Water yields (and thoſe excellent in their kind) can make Men happy, and Life pleaſant, CUBA is the Place where they are to be found.

It is thought that upon this Encouragement great Numbers of People will leave the other Iſlands and go to CUBA; for all that come will have Lands granted to them. The Captains aſſure us, that not a Man has fallen ſick ſince their Landing, but that they all grow ſtronger, which ſhews that it is a healthy Country. Our Army met with no Oppoſition in landing, and the Spaniards have been ſo complaiſant as to retire and leave the Country to them; ſo that now Nothing is wanting but more People to ſettle it. The Reports that we had of the Number of Americans being reduced to a Thouſand or leſs, is groundleſs; for we are aſſured by theſe Gentlemen, there are nigh 2400 living, and moſt of them in perfect Health.

BOSTON, Auguſt 31.

By a Veſſel which arrived laſt Monday from Swanzey in Wales, we hear, that in their Paſſage 100 Leagues from the Lands-End, they met with an Engliſh Man of War of 40 Guns, bound Home, which had taken and was then carrying in two Spaniſh Privateers, one of which was a Ship of 30 Guns, the other ſmaller. A Rhode-Iſland Veſſel, which had been out a long Time, was then under Convoy of ſaid Man of War.

Capt. Seymour who arrived here laſt Week from Cork, which Place he left the 26th of June laſt, informs us that the Succeſs Man of War, one of the new 20 Gun Ships had taken a Spaniſh Privateer of 30 Guns and 150 Men off of Cork, and carry'd her to England, the Privateer had not been above ſever Days out of St. Sebaſtians, to which Place ſhe belong'd.
